Program Title: "Do Artifacts Talk?"

Date: Saturday, March 24, 2012

Time: 1:30 pm to 3:30 pm

Audience: Children ages 7 to 12

Description: Have you ever wondered how archaeologists know what tribe a piece of pottery belongs to? Learn some of the tricks of observation when looking at an artifact. Children will 'learn to listen' to what artifacts tell us and our educator will introduce students to fact that archaeology both past and present. Put together a pot and take part in a mock archaeology dig.
